
ENERGY AUDIT SERVICES

or Michigan Public School Districts that are planning energy efficiency projects during 2014 - 2015, the Energy Office offers technical support from private contractors to assist with prioritizing the upgrades. There is a modest cost for these services, and the Energy Office provides an incentive (up to 50% of basic services cost) plus quality guidelines and assurances for school districts that enroll.

The basic services include a utility bill analysis, tour of building(s), energy assessment report with site-specific recommendations and benchmarking, a follow up review of the audit recommendations with the customer, and information on available financing options. The Energy Office also offers Michigan public school districts an incentive toward Building Operators Certification training and staff assistance with projects that use energy performance contracting.
