

REDEVELOPMENT READY COMMUNITIES®

The Redevelopment Ready Communities® (RRC) program is a state-wide certification program that supports communities to become development ready and competitive in today's economy. It encourages communities to adopt innovative redevelopment strategies and efficient processes which build confidence among businesses and developers. Through the RRC program, local municipalities receive assistance in establishing a solid foundation for development to occur in their communities—making them more attractive for investments that create places where people want to live, work and play.

Once engaged in the program, communities commit to improving their redevelopment readiness by undergoing a rigorous assessment, and then work to achieve a set of criteria laid out in the RRC Best Practices. Each best practice addresses key elements of community and economic development, setting the standard for evaluation and the requirements to attain certification.

The program measures and then certifies communities that actively tap the vision of local residents and business owners to shape a plan for their future while also having the fundamental practices in place to be able to achieve that vision. The six RRC Best Practices include:

- Plans and public engagement
- Zoning
- Development review
- Boards and commissions
- Economic development strategy
- Redevelopment Ready Sites®

Through the RRC Best Practices, communities build deliberate, fair and consistent development processes from the inside out. RRC provides the framework and benchmarks for communities to strategically and tactically ask “What can we do differently?” By shifting the way municipalities approach development, they're reinventing the way they do business—making them more attractive for investments that create places where talent wants to live, work and visit.

The RRC program also has an advisory council consisting of public and private sector experts to assist in guiding the development of the best practices, provide feedback and recommendations on community assessments, and consider new opportunities to enhance the program. In addition to Michigan Economic Development Corporation (MEDC) assistance, communities receive comments from multiple perspectives from experts working in the field, tapping into a broader pool of talent.

RRC certification formally recognizes communities for being proactive and business friendly. Certified communities clearly signal they have effective development practices such as well-defined development procedures, a community-supported vision, an open and predictable review process and compelling sites for developers to locate their latest projects. Through the program, MEDC provides evaluation support, expertise and consultation, training opportunities, and assist certified communities market their top redevelopment sites. These packaged sites are primed for new investment because they are located within a community that has effective policies, efficient processes and broad community support.
